Introduction: The order adopted by the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Shavkat Mirziyoyev, which was issued on January 12, 2017, "Developing a system of printing and distributing books and book productions, creating a commission to promote reading and reading culture" was not in vain. Under the adoption of this law was intended to provide readers with original works with deep meaning, delivery of book products to libraries, to shops in remote areas at low prices to widely disseminate the culture of reading among the population. And this is the key to creating unique opportunities for future spiritually strong, intelligent, Uzbek youth.

Main part: Everyone relies a book on account of their own interests. Choosing the right book is also a culture of reading. The culture of reading is the daily need for a book, independent choice of books, a deep understanding of it, the ability to work with books, magazines and newspapers and the usage of knowledge in the process of reading and working.

Reading could be compared with complex art. This culture does not appear spontaneously, it takes years to be formed. The role of libraries and library staff in shaping the culture of reading is invaluable. The culture of reading teaches the reader to fully understand literature, to aesthetically enjoy it, to understand and appreciate the thoughts and ideas of the writer. In addition, the use of books and libraries teaches how to find and use books with bibliographic information, on topics of interest or appropriate.

In the education of the mature generation, their comprehensive formation - the responsibilities of information and resource centers are not limited. All possible conditions have been created for the enrichment of the thinking and spiritual development of young readers. Our society in the process of promoting and improving the development of the new generation does not shy away from any changes. Undoubtedly, every nation wants its generation to develop. In this case, the role of information and resource centers, institutions is very large.

For the spiritual enrichment and development of users of information and library centers, as well as for enjoying cultural heritage, all sorts of conditions have been created, both inside and outside of the center. Since information libraries are institutions of culture and education, they have a special place in the country's continuing education system. The growing public interest in education and science increases the need for information and library tools. Information and library institutions, depending on the needs of the time, provide a variety of means, forms of services to readers.

To promote information and library centers, books in information and library centers, attract readers, get to know them with the life and work of representatives of literature and art, commemorative dates and events of great importance for their period, can be hold public events.

In connection with the development of information libraries, literature in information and library centers, public methods such as exhibitions, oral and complex methods can be applied. As well as you can hold library presentations, book exhibitions on their content, publishing properties and other functions, conference readers, literary-themed meetings, oral quizzes and other events. The advantage of public events will quickly satisfy the common interests of readers.

To perform such tasks, young readers have opportunities to develop spiritually, read, study and enrich their thinkings. With the rational use of existing opportunities in information and library institutions, it is necessary to further strengthen and promotion of youth's achievements in various fields, literature on the spiritual heritage of great figures and scholars among readers, to implement the ongoing works under the State program, state decisions, laws and decrees, opportunities and benefits provided to young people. In particular, it is important to educate young people in the spirit of patriotism, to teach them to preserve our national values, to respect our material and spiritual wealth.

The unique role of the book in human life, human society and spiritual development has been known since ancient times. Including families. This creates feelings such as familiarity with the world, the gift of knowledge, as well as the awakening of love for beauty and enjoyment of it. The school and parents have a very difficult and responsible task to organize reading for children. For the spiritual enrichment of the child, the book should hire him to grow spiritually, mentally and aesthetically. The first incentive for this, is a book reading to the child in the family, and secondly, the child hears the reading of his father or mother and feels the beauty of artistic images. These first and second impulses should cover all areas of a child's spiritual life in his late teens. We see some Uzbek families dropping books because they are obsessed with technology. Teenage spirituality is a very active process. For this reason, parents should pay attention to the factors at home when using the book.

Learning the culture of obtaining information is one of the most relevant tasks of our time. The culture of information search is an understanding of fiction, getting aesthetic pleasure from it, as well as working with scientific literature, libraries of all kinds, searching for information of interest to bibliography and information libraries, obtaining the necessary information from endless streams of information.

Today's youth are witnessing almost all positive changes, both in the country and in international life. The process of struggle for social, political, legal, and spiritually cultural development of youth shows that no ideological spaces are allowed. Therefore, the system of education of youth teaches to political processes, political life, political relations. We have taken the path of the renewal and development of the state and society, with a comprehensive considerations and conformity to the world experience, as well as the age-old traditional tradition, and the traditional way of life.

In the process of globalization, we must not lose sight of the fact that it is our duty to timely realize the true nature and purpose of various destructive and extremist ideas, to feel, understand and avoid various vices that try to poison the minds of our citizens and young people, such as: alienation from our values, nationalism, religious and ethnic intolerance, terrorism, ideas leading to geopolitical and economic conflicts.

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev notes that without the sustainable development of information and communication technologies and the Internet, it is impossible to talk about modernization and renewal of the country. It should be noted that, along with the latest advances in information and communication, we should be proud to focus on increasing young people's interest in reading, making friends with books and further improving reading. For the future of the youth, for its spiritual perfection, the book is a great force that lifts a person from the earth to heaven, increases his spiritual strength. Secondly, we are witnessing that the book is a historical memory of mankind, a torch that is able to show a bright future, strengthens our spirituality and scientific foundation.

Conclusion: Raising and preserving the spiritual culture of our youth based on a national ideology based on high humanity and morality plays an important role. In terms of this, we will undoubtedly receive the expected results of reliance on our national values and the wonderful traditions inherited from our ancestors.
