BASIC CONCEPTS

Speech, communication, behavior, upbringing, kind words, the process of upbringing

The issue of education has always been one of the most important and topical issues in our time. Reforms have become the focus of education and upbringing of the younger generation. In the process of upbringing, the work of the educator, his hard work has always been appreciated.

Imagine for a second you were transposed into the karmic driven world of Earl. Speech is the ability of people to communicate, communicate, express opinions, understand or reject each other. It's the same word for pain, it's the same word for marriage! There are many types and kinds of words: sweet word, rude word, obscene word, abusive word, wise word, gossip, congratulatory word, rumor rumor, provocation, please, command, promise, word, determination, young man's word. The first word of a person, the last word of a baby, the last word - goodbye.

Indeed, the Uzbek language, as the most developed language, helps a person to study the sources of society and spiritual life. Almost all living things have a tongue. She is a member of the diet, who knows the heat and cold, the taste of food. In addition, human beings produce speech sounds, which means that a person's ability to speak is realized through language. In other words, speech appears in our minds and is transmitted through language.

There are as many nations, peoples, peoples, tribes as there are languages on earth. There is no nation without language. Without people there is no language. These are twin concepts, inseparable, and if you separate them, they both lose their identity. When a nation joins another nation, its language becomes a dead language. At the same time, it should be noted that a single word of a language proves how rich and rich our language is.

The fact that every nation knows its own language and literature is a window into its existence. To lose the national language is to lose the spirit of the nation. It is necessary to preserve the language between private teeth as well as the common national language. Wise people know the thoughts and intentions, knowledge and power, dignity and worth of a person's words from what he says.

The process of upbringing is a process aimed at the formation of the individual, specially organized, managed and controlled for the cooperation of educators and pupils, the formation of the individual as its ultimate goal. The most important result of the process of upbringing is the formation of a highly spiritual person who is fully and harmoniously developed.

The process of upbringing has its own characteristics. An important feature is that it is goal-oriented. In the modern interpretation, the process of education is a process of effective goal-oriented cooperation between teacher and student (educator and pupil). After all, in the process of education, the activities of teachers and students are organized, managed and supervised.

The process of upbringing is a multifaceted process, which is organized on the basis of internal and external factors that serve to illuminate the essence of upbringing. Subjective factors express a person's inner needs, interests, and life relationships, while objective factors create the conditions for a person to live, form, and positively solve life problems.

The more the goal of education is in harmony with the content, direction, form and objective conditions of pedagogical activity, the more successful it will be in the formation of personality.

Not only the activity of the teacher, but also the age and psychological characteristics of the student, his thoughts and views on life play an important role in the organization and management of the educational process.

In the process of upbringing, special attention should be paid to communication and interaction. How do we organize communication with students?

First of all, they say, "I don't like dry words." Sweetness is one of the main factors of human activity. Because his intelligence, his feelings, his knowledge and his culture, his level, his way of thinking are, to a certain extent, expressed in words. A good word can win people's trust and hearts. A good word is a tool of life, and it has a lot of meaning. Words are the backbone and beauty of language. Words, faces and eyes are the beauty of the tongue.

Second, the old say, "The father of the word is the mind, and the mother is the tongue."

In the culture of communication, the word takes power from the mind, the will from the language. Man's manners are first expressed in his language and then in his knowledge. We consider people who have mastered the culture of etiquette to be intelligent, sensible, polite, intelligent, sane, cultured.

Alisher Navoi writes in Hayratul-Abror: "The virtue of the pearl of the word is so high that nothing as precious as a pearl can be a pearl. The word is the soul, and the spirit is the pattern. Mankind with a body spirit needs it." Alisher Navoi added: "A smart person does not lie, but it is not right to tell the whole truth. Someone is blind and disabled, but he is not guilty."

To embarrass someone unjustly is to prove one's ignorance and to hurt one's feelings. The great thinker Mahmud Qashqari also praised the power of words, saying that through human language, one expresses one's good and bad qualities, and is formed as a person in the process of interaction.

Clearly, it is important for everyone to be very thoughtful and to make promises when talking to another person. Speech is a product of thinking. Therefore, another important requirement for mother tongue education is to develop the thinking of future teachers. Expression of thought is accomplished through contemplation and language. Their relationship is a complex one. While thinking is the highest form of reflection of the external world in the human brain, language is a means of expressing thought in words, phrases, and sentences.

The more developed the thinking, the better the teacher's ability to express ideas. Speech culture is a huge and wide-ranging field that encompasses all speech processes, from who, what, when, where, and how to speak.

This means that sweet treats bring joy to everyone, ointment and salvation to the sick, and cold words can make a person sick. It is important to remember that a person who has a culture of behavior has a high reputation in the eyes of the people.
