- Ability to participate in small and large international relations and this is just a small part of the reasons why it is worth studying English. [4]

It opens up so many different perspectives for business people. The English language has become an integral part of the entire modern world. That is why its study opens up perspectives across the planet. Everyone can discover something new and interesting thanks to this language, as well as get a long-awaited high position. English is an opportunity to improve yourself, your life and intellectual abilities. The role of the English language in the modern world is invaluable. It is considered the most commonly spoken language. More than 450 million people consider him to be their home. Another 600-650 million citizen's use English as an additional language for communication. It is considered to be in demand in many countries of the world. Knowledge of the vocabulary and grammar of this language is essential in order to study abroad. Those who want to find a prestigious and highly paid job cannot do without him. In our article you can familiarize yourself with all the features of the English language, as well as find out why it is so in demand. The history of the emergence and development of a foreign language. [3]

To understand the role of the English language in the modern world, first of all, you need to know the history of its creation. The creator of the most popular and demanded Oxford Dictionary identified 5 main events that influenced the formation of the language. It's not a secret for anyone that it is almost impossible to find out exactly how the language was formed. It is known that Germanic invaders came and settled in Britain in the 5th century AD. They spoke in Germanic. Specialists have little information about this period. This is due to the fact that no written archives and documents of that time have been found. The formation of dialects is confirmed by sources of the 7-9th century. They all refer to the language that Alfred the Great called English in the 9th century. In the centuries following the Norman Conquest, significant changes took place in the English language. The inflectional system formed during that period is still used today. According to her, the generic endings of words characteristic of grammar are almost never used in English. The changes also affected the vocabulary. Borrowings from other languages are known, which over time began to appear in written speech. In the late medieval and modern period, there were steady processes of standardization of the English language. Written and spoken language continued to change. The so-called great vowel movement took place. Since the early seventeenth century, the influence of the English language has been felt throughout the world. Over time, people from different countries began to use it.

The role of the English language in the modern world is obvious to students who want to get a decent education. His knowledge allows him to study at absolutely any university. The received educational document is quoted in all countries. Almost every large library has books in English. Detectives, novels, poems and other works can be read in the original, knowing a foreign language. It is no secret that the translation of books is not always accurate and literal. The originals of technical literature are considered no less valuable.

The actualization of proficiency in a professional language in the academic environment is due to a number of reasons: the possibility of international professional contacts, internships, tests, international cooperation, and the desire to master professional literature and publish abroad. Students studying a professional language at a university are characterized by a very high degree of motivation, as they see real prospects for using such a language in their professional activities. [2]

Thanks to the knowledge of English, you can study in more depth the technique or equipment of interest. The role of the English language in the modern world is obvious. It is the most important communication tool at the international level. A modern man without certain linguistic knowledge cannot use the latest benefits of civilization. All spheres of our life in one way or another require knowledge of the English language. Learning English becomes in demand every year. Any modern person should own it at least at the initial level.

How to learn a foreign language? Today, English is being taught at preschool age. Almost all parents realize that knowledge of a foreign language is extremely important. That is why they are intensively engaged with their child in this direction. To teach a student or preschooler, they hire a tutor or send him to special courses. Lately, many adults also want to learn English. To achieve this goal, you can use the services of a tutor or sign up for appropriate courses. However, you can learn English yourself. To do this, we recommend using educational literature or special video and audio courses.

English plays an important role in the lives of adolescents and young people. Computer games in English are very popular among gamers. It is no secret that many young people spend a considerable amount of their free time using them. As a rule, new foreign games do not have a translation at first. At this moment, only knowledge of a foreign language can help a gamer. Thanks to this, he will be able to try out the novelty without feeling any discomfort. There are also useful programs in English. Knowledge of a foreign language allows you to easily use not only games, but also applications.

In most cases it remains possible, firstly, to focus on the linguistic aspects of the material to be studied (for example, by offering students terms as answers, having a similar structure). Secondly, to adapt the task to the level of special training of students (for example, to facilitate it by offering, among others, categorically inappropriate answers, thereby narrowing the range of options. Some methodologists distinguish between a linguistic model and its speech embodiment - speech models. [1] A large number of English words are present in youth speech. Experts believe that this is due to stereotypes and ideals that were created in adolescent society. Young people are confident that the standard of living in America is much higher than ours. Using English borrowings in their speech, they in a certain way approach their ideal and so we conclude that the English language plays an important role in our life. His knowledge is essential for people of all ages. The English language is associated with all spheres of life.

Those who want to get a prestigious education or find a high-paying job cannot do without it. I think in our time, it is very important to know foreign languages. Some people learn languages because they need them for robots, others travel abroad, and for others it's just a hobby. People want to know languages, write to pen pals or chat with people from different countries, meet more new people and make friends. In addition, they want to read the original books of famous writers, read newspapers and magazines. This helps them learn more about different events, people's lives, customs and traditions.

Learning foreign languages broadens our horizons, people become more educated. In my opinion, languages are especially important for those who work in various fields of science and technology, politics. A foreign language helps to learn the native language better. According to the information provided in our article, it can be concluded that employees who speak English earn more than those who do not know it. This fact can serve as an excellent incentive for learning foreign vocabulary and grammar.
