INTRODUCTION:

In raising the morale of our people, our national traditions and exemplary values, such as kindness, human dignity, peace and tranquility, friendship and harmony, joint solution of various problems, first of all, It is important to cultivate a harmoniously developed generation in order to build and strengthen a democratic society.

Therefore, today's educator:

- Talented, creative, enterprising in pedagogical activity;
- Perfectly mastered national culture and universal values, secular knowledge, spiritually mature;
- A faithful citizen who believes in the development of Uzbekistan as an independent state, who has correctly fulfilled his patriotic duty;
- Excellent knowledge of the specialty, psychological, pedagogical knowledge and skills, as well as theoretical knowledge;

- Loves the teaching profession and children, sincerely believes that every student will grow up to be a good person, help them to develop as a person and become a person;

- Must be able to think freely and positively, be demanding, fair, polite.

These values are inculcated in the minds of the younger generation on the basis of education.

MAIN PART:

In the pedagogical skills of teachers and educators working in educational institutions of our country, universal values demonstrate the breadth of their spiritual world. Attention to universal, spiritual values plays a key role in the views of our great scholars on education. From time immemorial, our ancestors considered science, enlightenment, education and upbringing, which are invaluable resources, as the basis of human perfection and the development of the nation. Human behavior and behavior reach perfection only on the basis of reason, the study of science, and enlightenment. In educating the younger generation, it is expedient to give them not only scientific knowledge, but also spiritual knowledge and education in the spirit of universal values. Therefore, in order to achieve these goals, first of all, the teacher's attitude to the spiritual world and universal values must be at a very high level.

In organizing the process of developing the competence of teachers, it is necessary to pay attention to certain factors:

- The effectiveness of the process of developing the professional competence of teachers depends on the activity of teachers and independent learning activities;
- The importance of the processes of educational relations in the educational institution, which have a different impact on the development of the teacher's personality, as a component of the process of development of professional competence of teachers;
- Taking into account the human-book-human relationship, which is one of the main forms of educational relations, that is, the process of human-book interaction in human-book relations, it is important to organize the process of professional competence of teachers on a scientific basis.

According to the scholars of the Great East, the realization of the ideas of humanity depends on the attainment of spiritual perfection, knowledge and enlightenment. That is why they glorify science at the level of human values, call on all members of society to acquire knowledge, appreciate the work of teachers. In particular, Abu Rayhan Beruni emphasizes that knowledge is the key to the study of universal values and writes: The benefit of science is not to greedily accumulate gold and silver, but to acquire what man needs. Thus, when we interpret the essence of universal values from a pedagogical point of view, it is based on the spiritual needs of man, spiritual actions, things and events that have been valued for centuries as a source of formation of the spiritual culture of the people.

The success of the ongoing reforms in the education system in our country largely depends on the fact that the work of teachers is focused on universal values. The teacher demonstrates in the educational process how rich in universal and spiritual values through his hard work and professionalism. The perfect man, the result of the work of a teacher, creates and develops high spirituality, preserves universal values.

The content of humanitarian education in our country, based on the principles of national revival and the achievements of independence, the rich national, spiritual and intellectual potential of the people and universal values, is based on state educational standards (National Training Program 54-page). Particular attention is paid to the individuality of the learner on the basis of universal values, the strengthening of his passion for education and knowledge, the formation of a sense of human dignity of independent action.

The head of our state said that the upbringing of young people is a huge responsibility for the whole nation. We can't afford to give up,"he said. In turn, he had an independent opinion that the opportunities created by our state will build the future with their own hands. It stimulates the formation of our young people who can achieve a lot of innovative achievements. Our future, our bright future is in the hands of such young people. In short, our future is in the hands of young people. Therefore, in raising the morale of young people, our national values, traditions, the kindness embodied in it, thinking of people, peaceful and serene life, friendship and harmony, joint solution of various problems are becoming more and more exemplary is important. When we say healthy, we mean not only our physically strong children, but also spiritually rich, mentally developed, morally active, enlightened young people. Such young people have the best qualities of our people - faith and honesty, kindness, compassion and mercy, modesty and dignity, honor, mutual respect, high patriotism, values and ideas that faithfully serve their people. Should be integrated. The role of a healthy psychological environment in the family where young people are brought up, a healthy psychological family - a healthy psychological child is invaluable.

In today's globalized world, there are spiritual threats to inculcate certain ideological concepts and ideas in the minds of young people, even if they are false and misleading for certain political and ideological purposes.

In such pedagogical activity, universal values are formed due to the hard work of the teacher, and the following problems are the most important for the teacher today:

- Recognize in society the universal values inherent in society as the basis of their goals;
- The presence and ability to transfer the target values in the work of teachers to effective students;
- The creation of the necessary conditions by the teacher for the acceptance of targeted values by students. There should be criteria such as a nurtured national outlook and beliefs.

Today's young people have a deep sense of change and different perceptions of life changes and are able to meet the requirements of a market economy, a competitive environment, a deep understanding of social responsibility to future generations, independent thinking and a culture of thinking to be prone to inventions, discoveries, research, to have a thorough knowledge of entrepreneurship, to adhere to the principles of the priority of our national interests in everything, to avoid negative elements such as immorality, to strengthen independence with patriotic qualities, deepen democratic reforms and civil society. Should make a worthy contribution to development. In the rapidly changing world - in the information age, where it is possible to live vigilantly without indifference and indifference, to quickly transmit and receive any message, it is possible not only to know what is happening in different parts of the world while sitting at home. Every parent, every educator, every person needs to be extremely vigilant in an environment where they are able to hear, at the same time, observe, and even express their attitudes. The head of our state stressed that the Internet, like all mass media, opens a wide range of opportunities for our youth: it is necessary to understand. When young people enter the Internet market, they should get only what they need, learn the culture of using information on the Internet. The main task is to attract students and young people in close contact with their parents, to form a culture of information consumption and to form a consistent improvement.

Every young man and woman who has developed a culture of information consumption can evaluate the information that contradicts our national values, based on their own views and values, while reviewing the information. The Internet does not allow to spread the glory of our country around the world use.

Our national identity is intertwined with universal values. Over the centuries, our people have made a great contribution to the development of universal values. Respect for people of different nationalities, coexistence with them, religious tolerance, the pursuit of secular knowledge, the study of advanced practices and culture of other peoples have long been embodied in our people.

CONCLUSION:

It is the human duty of every teacher to strengthen the faith of our youth on the basis of national values, to strengthen their will, to bring them up as well-rounded people with independent thinking.
