Pilgrimages in the Jizzakh Region: Place of Pilgrimage Khojai Serob Ota:

The monument "Xo'jai Sarob ota" occupies an area of 2 hectares and is located in an area not far from the village of Peshag'or. The reason why the monument is covered with thick grass around, the stranger's fur, who came here, feels calm, as if all the problems are left outside. The mosque and the mausoleum are located slightly above it. Here is the Tomb of the outstanding scientist – Mavlono Muhammad Peshagori, who was born in 1321 . About his activities, Fakhriddin Ali ibn is listed in the preacher Koshifi's "Rashkhatu aynul Hayat" Chronicle. According to information, religious scholar, Mavlono Muhammad, a follower of the Naqshbandian sect, decided to come here and stay in one of his trips. He was engaged in viticulture and gardening and also taught the children of local families. According to the legends that walks among the people living here, Spring Water has a healing property. If he intends to drink this spring water, he will certainly be heard. Currently, three thousand inhabitants of Peshagor and Kangli villages consume the same spring water.

Place of Pilgrimage "Novka ota":

There is an ancient and beautiful shrine named "Novka Ota" in Novka village of Bakhmal. The name of the shrine "Novqa ota" is often associated with "Nakatun" (Arabic) - meaning "camel". The terms Nauqat, Navqand, Navqad (Navqadi), which we have encountered many times in the scientific literature, also refer to this very ground.

Place of Pilgrimage "Khojamushkent ota":

This sanctuary is associated with the name of saint named Khoja ibn Isok. In the area of the sanctuary there is khanaka, located on the symbolic grave of Khoja ibn Isok. There are caves of various sizes and several sources that pass through narrow passages with area about 0.2 hectares. On the archaeological hill adjacent to this place there are barrows in the form of Saks and Sogd tombs of the beginning of the century. In addition, fragments of ceramics found in this area indicate that our ancestors lived in this area in the I-II centuries of our era. Information about the person in whose honor the sanctuary is named can be found in Alisher Navoi's "Nasoyim ul-Muhabbat", in the volume "About the Cemeteries of Samarkand Regions" by "Samaria" (Mention of Samarkand Cemeteries) Abu Tohir Samarkandia, in "Kandia "Abu Hafs Nasafiy , in "Makomati Yusuf Hamadoni" by Khoji Abduholik Gijdivonia.

Place of Pilgrimage Sa'd ibn Abu Waqqas:

The place of pilgrimage is located in the village of Awliya in Gallaorol district and is divided into two parts. The upper part of the lake area is remarkable for its healing and sacred springs, beautiful and picturesque corners, magnificent nature, unique landscapes, while the lower part is remarkable for its ancient mosque and sanctuary.
