In order to improve the quality of military training and military-patriotic education of students before the draft, to continuously use the support of the military unit, higher military educational institution and public organizations attached to the educational institution, to closely assist the Department of Defense Affairs in the selection and training of students who have expressed a desire to enter higher military educational institutions. In cooperation with the leaders of the group, to prepare descriptions of teenagers who should be registered at the conscription station. The head and teacher of the subject of military training until the call-up is responsible for student education (deputy director for spiritual education), physical education teacher, group leaders, masters of industrial education and the team of pedagogues in organizing the education of students of educational institutions in the spirit of military and patriotism during extracurricular hours.

The rules of professional ethics of teachers are determined by the state bodies with special authority to manage education, and teachers' trade unions. It is required that the head and teacher of the military training subject know and comply with the requirements of military ethics. The main concepts of military ethics can be shown:

1. Military duty;
2. Responsibility of the military;
3. Military heroism;
4. Military discipline;
5. Demanding and performance;
6. Courage;
7. Liveliness;
8. Combat comradeship and others.

Requirements for teachers' clothing may be determined by educational organizations. It is allowed to be in the military uniform prescribed by the Armed Forces of the Republic of Uzbekistan during the activity of the leader and teacher of the military training subject from the beginning to the call. When wearing a military uniform, it is required to be within the requirements of the General Military Regulations of the Armed Forces of the Republic of Uzbekistan. The reason is that the initial conclusions of the future military serviceman, i.e. students, should not be negative. The appearance of a military serviceman differs from that of other professions, so the appearance of the head and teacher of pre-draft military training must also meet the requirements.

Including: it is intended to create an optimal, integrated, comfortable learning environment, mental state, optimization of educational activities, organization and formation of the relationship between teachers and students. The relationship between the teacher and the student should be organized on the basis of humanitarian criteria and should be aimed at eliminating unpleasant feelings. This creates a means of communication, a "bridge" for organizing mutual pedagogical influence. On the other hand, communicative activity, which is a component of pedagogical dialogue, can be implemented on the basis of the following scheme: modeling the pedagogical process, engaging in dialogue with the class, organizing direct dialogue (communicative aggression), organizing communication management in the developmental pedagogical process, carrying out the intended activity modeling the communication system during development.

There are different ways (styles) of interaction and communication between the teacher and the student in the organization of educational work. They can be divided into stable-positive, weak-positive and unstable relations of the teacher towards the group of students. Pedagogical technology based on the creation of educational factors includes ways of communicative influence of teachers on students. Common methods or communicative influences include: persuasive methods, evidence-based methods, direct and indirect influence methods, self-education and interaction methods.

The army is one of the state mechanisms, which determines the fate, internal stability, place and role of the multilateral state. The Armed Forces ensure the territorial integrity of the state and the peaceful life of its citizens. Under the conditions of reforms in the military sphere, the Armed Forces are gaining a new quality. Structural changes have been carried out in our army, military doctrine is aimed at defense and its development on the basis of quality and intellectual priorities. In this regard, today every fighter of our Motherland is required to work hard, have a high sense of patriotism, conscientiously fulfill his military duty, and take personal responsibility. Maintaining a high level of combat readiness, improving combat skills, strengthening order and discipline is the share of every soldier in ensuring the country's defense power.

The main directions of the initial training before the draft are aimed at educating the growing generation in the spirit of physical, spiritual and moral, patriotism and readiness for state defense and work.

In conclusion, it should be said that the head and teacher of the subject of military training before the draft must have a perfect knowledge of the state educational standard, regulatory and directive documents, interactive methods of teaching, the content of the educational subjects, the requirements for the equipment and equipment of classrooms and classrooms, the general and youth of students. Knowledge of psychology, norms of ethics and aesthetics, vocational orientation of young people, sanitary and hygiene norms is a requirement of today. The leader and teacher of the subject of military training until the call-up is required to be an example to the youth with military patriotism education, demandingness, responsibility, courage, bravery and military discipline.
