Introduction

The main purpose of this research is to develop a comprehensive program for the improvement of the education system, based on which the introduction and implementation of textbooks on the preservation of the literary history, purity and attractiveness of the Uzbek language.

The Effect Of Changes In The Education System

Education, as one of the important principles of human socio-economic life, plays an invaluable role in the development of science and the future of the country. It should be borne in mind that the effectiveness of the education system is directly related to the quality of education, which in turn has an impact on the quality of professional training. Measures to further improve the education system under the leadership of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, A system aimed at further integration of the Republic into the world community has been created. According to it, starting from the 2013/2014 academic year, the study of foreign languages in all regions of the Republic, mainly English, from the first grades of secondary schools In the form of intellectual speech lessons, from the 2nd grade onwards, students learn to read aloud and grammar. The hanging phase was determined to be performed. The program of measures to expand the study of foreign languages is widely used at all levels of the education system of the Republic of Uzbekistan. In particular, the analysis of the current system of organizing the study of foreign languages shows that the knowledge acquired by primary school students in all secondary schools in 2003/2004, 5.6 grade students it was emphasized that rgangan is equal to mental capacity. This is not only a sign of the rapid development of the education system, but also a number of tasks, such as educating the younger generation to be more knowledgeable, fluent in foreign languages, and so on. In particular, this year alone in the capital there is an index of primary school students learning foreign languages. Among them: Many Jalil students in Tashkent region have mastered the pronunciation of foreign languages at the age of 7 and many other tasks, including Usmonova Maftuna Abdusattarova Zarina Borboyev Hasan and Husan. Such students, who pronounce English from their sweet tongues, are now second graders and they can easily introduce themselves in English. We can say with confidence that the descendants of our grandfather Alisher Navoi, who was eager to learn the language of such young people, are being born again. It is no exaggeration to say that this is a bright example of the results of the reforms implemented by our government and the President. The above-mentioned young people, who are the basis of this education system, are sure to grow up to be a generation that will be able to speak foreign languages and introduce our country's prestige to the world.

Critical Views

At this point, I would like to draw your attention to an important issue. Bekzod Mirakhmedov, an Uzbek who has passed the IELTS test 13 times and returned with a score of 8.5, has literally become the "king of the English language." Today, the younger generation is rapidly degrading foreign languages. Before I bring it, I would like to express my views on this issue. 3 Imitation comments are personal opinions.

and the task of shading its appeal, along with the ENGLISH LANGUAGE I would like to suggest that NG IMIO DICTIONARY be included as a textbook in all general and secondary schools.

It is known that all general and secondary schools have a textbook "Mother Tongue". But it is no secret that grammar rules, the deepening of the language and similar textbooks are taught in it. Remember, the great horn, the commander Zahiriddin Muhammad Babur. Although he has traveled the world, he will eventually return to his homeland, his nation, his mother tongue. As modern people learn foreign languages and contribute to the world community, they will learn their mother tongue. It must also maintain its purity and attractiveness

As Mark Shukerberg points out, "Only good education can save us!" After all, we young people are committed to perfect and quality education in every way!
