INTRODUCTION:

It is known that one of the issues of our country, which is rising to the level of state policy, is the development of patriotic spirit in young people. There is an attention focus on youth growing up today. Thanks to our independence, we have been able to form in the minds and hearts of our people such concepts as the spirit of national patriotism, love for the motherland. This is directly related to the upbringing of young people. Educating young people is the most responsible and urgent task. That is why they are acquainted with the complex problems of educating young people in the spirit of national patriotism in the family. The first concepts inherent in our national values are first and foremost absorbed in the family environment. The spirituality and worldview of young people are formed mainly in the family.

Only when personal upbringing is inextricably linked with social upbringing will it be possible to ensure the social activism of young people growing up. Success in raising a child in a family depends on the knowledge of the parents. Parenting should be done with patience, kindness, compassion, and sensitivity, not with bad intentions and rudeness. This does not mean that a child should be left to its own devices like an uncontrolled animal. It is a big mistake to keep a young child unsupervised who cannot distinguish between benefit and harm. Perhaps he should be brought up with justice between hardness and softness. Although every parent teaches his child good things with his tongue, if his behavior is bad, he is considered a bad teacher. After all, young children imitate what they see from their parents. An example of parental behavior for children is the rule of nature. Doing depraved and inappropriate things in front of children is like teaching them to do the same things. The father, who got out of the drunken carriage, grabbed the reins of his horse, and returned from the market as motionless as a lifeless piece of wood, said to his son, "O my son! Like me, get in the habit of drinking! Just as I came to this world and got an honorable profession among my brothers and sisters, so live a miserable life! " It is natural for such a two-legged animal to be a four-legged animal when the child grows up. Bad behaviors are inherited from father to son for these reasons. Even the children of parents who do not respect each other do not respect anyone. Because they learn this bad deed from their parents.

The homeland is the past, present and future of the nation. It is no coincidence that our people say, "The homeland begins at the threshold". As a person grows up, his understanding of the Homeland also begins to expand. It rises to the level of threshold, home, neighborhood, village, city, district, province and finally country. In terms of concepts and experiences, patriotism is a socio-psychological feeling that has emerged in the process of historical development, formed and changed under the influence of external environments and periods.

Everyone living in this sacred land should consider the idea that the Motherland is one and the Motherland one as one of the priorities of inculcating it in the minds and thinking of the younger generations and making it a vital necessity.

PATRIOTISM IN GENERAL:

- To know and be proud of the history of his people;
- To preserve the material and spiritual heritage created by great ancestors and pass it on to future generations;
- To study the traditions, customs and traditions of the ancestors, to continue the part of it that has become a value;
- The future of our state, the stability of independence, a sincere sense of the greatness of the future, the earnest assistance in building such a future, hundreds of qualities.

Undoubtedly, one of the main factors in the development of patriotic spirit in youth is the unique role and influence of the family. Because the purest and purest feelings of a person, the first life concepts and imaginations are formed first of all in the heart of the family.

Many years of scientific research have shown that 70 percent of all information that a person receives in a lifetime is received by the age of five.

At the age of 5-7 years, the child begins to understand and comprehend all the good and bad things, his immaculate consciousness, like golden letters on white paper, absorbs all the events around him, the impressions behind them.

If a father raises his hand to his mother in front of his children or his mother shouts at his father, his children will lose their respect and dignity.

As our first head of state pointed out: as long as there is life in this bright world, there is a family. As long as there is a family, there is a priceless blessing called a child. As long as there is a child, humanity always lives with kindness and aspirations.

It should be noted that the family is one of the social institutions, that is, such institutions influence the behavior and worldview of children as neighborhood, education, culture. Observations show that despite the negative behavior of their parents, their children are formed as educated, cultured mature professionals. On the one hand, immunity is formed in the minds and behavior of children, and on the other hand, the influence of public opinion has led to good results.

Therefore, one of the pressing issues today is to strengthen the family's cooperation with other social institutions. Specialists such as sociologists, psychologists, pedagogues, cultural workers are required to participate in the performance of this responsible task.

Because by inculcating in all spheres such concepts as national patriotism, understanding of our customs and traditions in family relations, the attitude, responsibility and social activity of young people to the sense of universal and national patriotism will increase.

The role and place of the community in the development of the spirit of patriotism is of special importance. We know that Uzbek communities have long been a place of national values. Traditions of our people, such as mutual kindness, harmony and harmony, being together in good times and bad, were formed and developed in the neighborhood. It is no coincidence that this unique method of self-government of our people has long been deeply rooted not only in the language, but also in the hearts and lives of people.

Today, the rights and powers of the community are expanding. Such great attention to the community administration testifies to the popularity of the policy pursued in our country today.

Speaking and reflecting on the people-related aspects of the neighborhood, if we want to understand the climate and the situation in each household, the whole country, we will have the opportunity to see the vivid expression of real landscapes in the life of the neighborhood.

One of the most important factors in the development of the spirit of patriotism is the education system. We know that our ancestors have long considered science, enlightenment, education and upbringing, which are invaluable assets, as the main condition and guarantee of human perfection and development of the nation. Education is the most important factor in shaping and developing the spirit of patriotism. In particular, it is impossible to develop a patriotic spirit in young people without changing the education system and, on this basis, consciousness.

Education is a key factor in reforming society and making it more open to the outside world and a society focused on new technologies and knowledge.

It is necessary to pay special attention to the words of one of our great scientist Abdullah Avloni: "Education is for us a matter of life or death, salvation or destruction, happiness or calamity." These words of our great-enlightened ancestor are as important and relevant for our nation today as they were at the beginning of the century.

What the future of our nation will look like depends on the level of education of the youth who are studying today. We must educate the youth in the spirit of patriotism so that we can make the future of the nation a decisive force.

In conclusion, we emphasize the need to develop the spirit of patriotism in young people who are being educated today, to bring them up in the spirit of love for the Motherland and confidence in its future. As well as being a unique school of upbringing and example, the family is also a place of healthy social environment, healthy lifestyle. The events that take place in the family are under the relationship of parents and children. Justice and national values become the priorities of the way of life. If the family is harmonious and harmonious, peace and harmony will be achieved in the society, and peace will prevail in the state. It is no coincidence that family well-being is the foundation of national well-being. We must not forget that in order to educate young people on the basis of patriotism, it is important to pay attention to national thinking, modern consciousness, national ideology. Therefore, one of the most important tasks of the family is to bring up young people at the level of knowledgeable, sharp-minded, professional, morally healthy, physically healthy, harmoniously developed generation. At the same time, one of the important tasks of every parent is to bring up their children to have a deep sense of responsibility, to strive for a certain goal, to respect adults, to be kind to children, to adhere to national values and traditions.
