

SOCIO-PSYCHOLOGICAL ATTRIBUTES OF STUDENTS RELIGIOUS

HORIZON

Boymurodova Feruza Ziyot Kizi

Student, 1-English Faculty, Uzbekistan State World Languages University,

Tashkent, Republic of Uzbekistan

boymurodovaferuza555@gmail.com,

Abstract:

This article discusses how essential socio-psychological attributes of students religious horizon in their daily life. Additionally, this article helps to identify people's viewpoint which is about their own holy religion, or how sensitive to their mind. This very article indicates that the perspective is divided into two levels: the theory of conception as well as a practical conception, besides, peculiar ways of notifying the students horizon.

Key words: a religious worldview, the formation of a religious worldview, religious beliefs.

Since the beginning of XXI century, an overwhelming majority of people's lives have eternally changed, particularly, young generations. This is mainly because advanced technologies affect their social life. Namely it can be seen fairly young people's outlook. Nowadays the vast majority of young ones attempt to be autonomous almost daily, especially, if they have any kinds of matters or problems, they try to tackle them without their parents or teachers' help by themselves. By this way, certainly students worldview is thoroughly essential to assess accurately on friendly environment. It is undeniably true that this is a complicated notion of ethical, legal, political, philosophical, scientific, aesthetic and religious as well as other viewpoints or opinions about the world, its improvement, transformation as well. For this reason, the horizon or the worldview which is fairly equal term if they connect them with the features of psychology.

Moreover, the latter is collected holistically knowledge about the universe. The more human beings acquire about the world around them and the incidents, the better their worldview or outlook will be. Another significant aspect of the former is that not only identify, but also assesses human reality. A worldview involves numerous notions, such as values, aspirations, goals, ideals, beliefs, wishes, the conceptions which exact individuals who exist in comprehending as well as evaluating the universe. Authorities, social groups, a variety of mass forces, political parties and Classes are the subject of a worldview.[1]

What is more, it is undoubtedly true that people's view which is related to the world integrally establish series of ideas along with knowledge upon the world, assess them on the foundation of their ideals or dreams so as to found their primary aims, their activities, their place and their objectives in life. It is a meaningful concept which persuades these as soon as possible. The perspective is divided into two levels: the theory of conception as well as a practical conception. The former is a set of theories which is gathered from intellectual knowledge, perspectives along with opinions of professors who possess highly practical experience within professional, skilful activities in daily life.

Certainly intellectual knowledge can suppose to identify the people's overall viewpoints or ideas about something, namely they may be related to some specific topics or some kinds of problems it does not matter whether if it will be crucial. Therefore, human intelligence is forever more unique than neither treasure, nor jewellery in the world. The latter one is certainly connected with several notions or ideas that gained from background knowledge of education. The theory and the practice are inextricably bound up with each other. A worldview which is related to the religion came up at closely later positions of ancient improvement, explanations about the world, its peculiar features, such as society and nature, through the impaction of divine miracles and strengths. On a daily basis, a religious horizon gets acquaintance with the existence of a divine being isolated from the existence of the universe.

Structures of a religious worldview: the importance of a religious worldview to rely on God heartily as the creator of all world. Furthermore, deep religious faith contains worship of God. Human can realize God in mind and human can feel God deeply. Therefore, in religious beliefs religious worldview is referred, besides, captures a specific system of ceremonies, worship or else rituals. A religious worldview concentrates not only on the people's psyche, but also on mind. While considering about a view of religion, it should be stated that it has its own original facts or some information of history and historical experience of ethics. It leads to inspire most people to live together or serves as a way of teaching. [2]

A worldview of religion which has been improved and shaped on mythological foundation, referring the origin, improvement or future of realities in imaginary concepts and imaginations. Specific features of it illustrates in the fact that it instructs the universe by social and natural phenomena by the strength of God. He discusses that there is an influence, the mysterious strength of divine powers in anywhere. The essence of it is reflected in literature which is thought sacred to mankind. The formation of a religious worldview is a serious process that involves animism, totemism, fetishism. This kind of beliefs establishes the rudiment of religious thought. Faith of religion is a complex phenomenon which covers up emotional as well as intelligent aspects as part of believers who are spiritual. According to the spiritual manifestation of beliefs, which is related to the religion, includes a wide range of images that are represent in people's mind and extremely perceptive by young generations as necessary to life. [3]

As a matter of fact, the sense of feelings plays a pivotal role in religious beliefs. A variety of people's emotions, for instance, joy, hope, love, fear, respect and pleasure and so on, they could be combined with it and could have the correct direction, perception of service, obedience, meaning and sense of love, God. The pleasure of communicating with them gets a reward for peace as well as an experience of hope. The theological notion of emotions as the highest expression of person awareness, the most believable form of successful knowledge, the highest moral appreciation. Another component of opinion or worldview, which is connected with a religion, is also worship. Worship relies on the powers of divination in the form of religious images which are possessed a high position in people's every day life. [4]

Taking everything into account, it can be concluded that the improvement and formation of a religious horizon or worldview is essential for the development of religious schedules, and also the organization where is used for people's holy places, a variety of holidays which are religious, besides, distinctive ceremonies. Religion within its solemn ceremonies, distinctive celebrations or rituals engender qualities of spirituality, for example, compassion, satisfaction, mood, sympathy, joy, duty, cooperation, humanity, conscience, purity and others.

Indeed, the merits of a religious worldview is that it has improved the principles of morality and programs ought to be appreciated by the whole ones. An overwhelming majority of them are still of little attention, due to the fact that the needs of Islam and Shariah focus on little or not they are the most desirable and important qualities in individual life in the world as well. For this reason, the religious worldview is deeply grown in the minds of people and adjusted to the common people's spirituality and expressed in the structure of legends, myths along with vivid images that will perceptibly influence their thoughts and feelings.

References:

1. Kukushkin V. S., Stolyarenka L.D. "Etnopedagogika va etnopsixologiya". Rostov – Na Donu: Feniks –2000 page–48.
2. Safronov A.G., "Psychology of Religion". Moskva – 2002, 110-115-pages.
3. Kuhn M.R. and Stahl S. A. 1998, "Psychology of Religion". Journal of literature research, 30, pages–119-138.
4. Ugrinovich D.M. "Psychology of Religion". Moskva – 1986, 65 –page.